CANADIANS OVER CALAIS

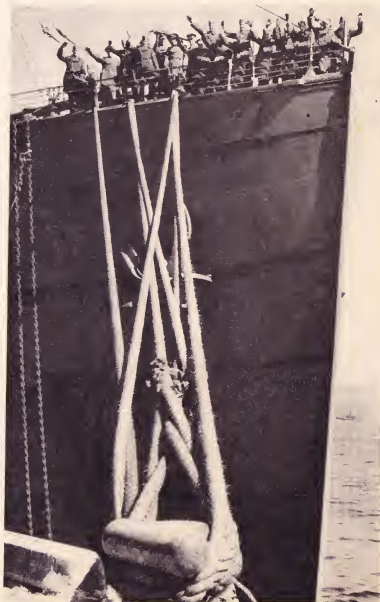

MORE EMPIRE BIRDMEN

STILL ANOTHER CONTINGENT of fighting men from Canada has arrived safely in England to take part in the fight. It included both army reinforcements and a number of graduates of the Empire Training plan, among whom were a group of newly commissioned air observers, distinguished by their single wing badge with the letter "O." Here are members of the group waving good-bay from the troopship that took them to England from an eastern Canadian port, Hon. C. G. Power, minister of national defence for air, saw them off

HAVING A SPOT of tea while the troopship gets ready for the departure are two well-known sportsmen from Toronto. They are Sergeant-Pilot Johnny Tett, Canadian diving champion, and Sergeant-Pilot "Chuck" McLean, member of the Argonaut football team and former heavyweight boxing champion

THIS GROUP WAS the largest yet to leave Canada under the training plan. The lads left within 24 hours after their arrival for their operational squadrons, and will soon be engaged on bombing excursions to Naziland

... this light mayonnaise—delicate in flavor, light and smooth in texture

Real Mayonnaise (Hellmann's Blue Ribbon) is made like the home kind. It contains only selected eggs, a special blend of vinegar, a secret mixture of spices. And in our powerful new kind of double whipper these ingredients are so completely blended that Real Mayonnaise, with all its home-made richness, is even lighter and creamier in texture than home-made, and has a zestfully light, delicate flavor, free from oily taste.

CANADA CONSTRUCTS CORVETTES TO BEAT U-BOATS

GREAT LAKE HARBORS seethe white with foam as new corvettes, Canada's contribution to the all-decisive battle of the Atlantic, take to the water in the inland shipyards. This type of ship has proved very useful in defending convoys against U-boat attacks.

CORVETTES ARE U-BOAT POISON

WHEN THE BATTLE of the Atlantic is won, the corvette, the submarine's deadly enemy, will have to be given considerable credit, for there will be swarms of them protecting the convoys on the ocean lanes. Their length is about 200 feet, their tonnage 500, their crew 50 to 60. They carry one high angle 4-inch gun and have two depth charge throwers. They are not as deadly as a destroyer, the traditional antidote to U-boats, but have a great compensating advantage in that they can be turned out much more quickly and cheaply. They have half the speed of a destroyer, one-third the size, one-fourth the armament, and a third the crew but cost one-tenth, that is, $500,000, compared to five millions. Thus there will be much more of them, and it is well that German subs should have as many enemies as possible. Canada is building 80 corvettes and calls them after the smaller towns, such as Oakville.

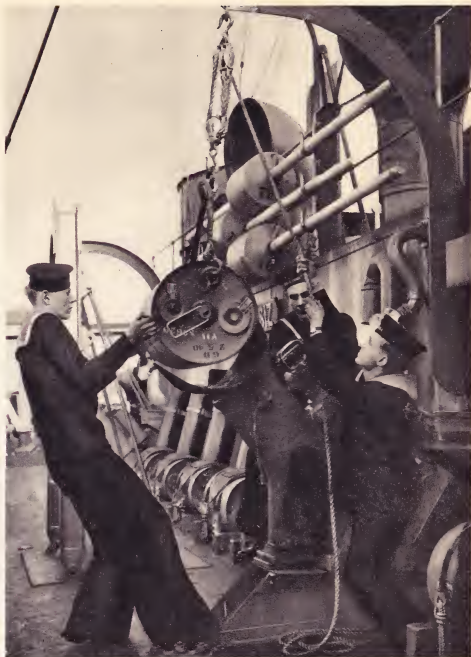

AFTER THE THUNDER of the launching has died away, the hull of the corvette has been towed to a berth in a slip. Much has to be done before she is ready for combat, but she can be built in one month.

THE CORVETTE is one of Canada's most effective replies to the U-boat menace to convoys to Britain. By this year's end, 80 of them will have been built in Canadian shipyards on our two oceans. Above, a Pacific coast corvette flies the white ensign.

THERE IS DEATH for some U-boat in that depth charge which two corvette tars are lowering into position on the throwing machine that will toss it overboard at the psychological moment. These ships, which are 150 feet long, cost $400,000 and carry a crew of 50 men.

THERE IS NO FINER spot for sun tan than the wide mouth of a ventilating funnel. Basking in the May sunshine on the knee of one of the crew is the corvette's little mascot, a port Spitz but a real sea dog, though his bark is much worse than his bite.

THAT PACIFIC OCEAN air gives men a sharp appetite and our healthy young sailors are quick to line up at the cook-house, or galley door, when it is dinner time. The Canadian navy is proving extremely attractive to young Canadians from Atlantic to Pacific.

CANADIAN TROOPS PERFECT THEIR BATTLE TACTICS

CANADIAN MOTORCYCLE MEN ride either singly as dispatch riders or in combinations of three men to a machine. Both can be seen in this picture of motorcycle riders on the move in the south of England, rehearsing battle tactics. Many of Canada's most famous cavalry regiments have become mechanized, to conform with modern war-time technique, and rank with the best anywhere.

STILL MORE CANADIAN troops recently arrived in England and at once settled down to finish off their training. Here is a group practising the throwing of hand grenades

WHEN CANADIAN TROOPS in England finally get into action, their two hard-hitting reconnaissance battalions—one is attached to each of the two divisions now overseas—will be in the vanguard. Specially picked from a crack corps, these men are assigned to the dangerous task of forming the advance scouting units which range even ahead of the speedy tanks ferreting out and reporting on enemy positions. These reconnaissance troops for the most part utilize motorcycles and universal carriers, have deadly fire power, and can move at 45 miles an hour. These pictures were taken when motorcyclists in one of the battalions were roaring over the English countryside in manoeuvres. These and other units of Canada's two divisions have tested and re-tested battle plans until ready for attack.

THE THREE MEN in the motorcycle combination are the driver, wearing a crash helmet, a rifleman on a pillion behind him, and a third man on a sidecar to man the Bren gun. All three are expert at on-the-spot repairs.

"TREMENDOUSLY IMPRESSED" was the verdict of the King and Queen after their recent inspection of the fighting strength of Canada's second division. Their majesties, during a six-hour visit, found the Canadians well-trained and versatile. This is an anti-tank gun crew which the Queen singled out for her special attention, although she was interested in all the Canadian units.

THE KING'S KEEN EYE takes in the smartly drilled ranks of an unidentified unit of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals during the inspection. The troops gave a tumultuous welcome to the royal couple, who were given first-hand testimony of the Canadians' readiness for battle. No doubt the lads will be recalling their impressions of the occasion in the next letters they write home.

THE QUEEN HAD a word of cheer and encouragement for these men in a "central Ontario regiment." Standing just behind her majesty, a little to the right, is Maj.-Gen. Victor Odium, officer commanding the second division. The Canadians gave a convincing demonstration of why they have been entrusted with the important job of defending certain vital defence zones in Britain.

"WE WILL PAY THEM BACK THREE-FOLD"—CHURCHILL

THIS IS STILL ANOTHER church that was destroyed by fire bombs in a recent Nazi raid on a London district. Even in churches whose roofs are gone and whose walls are crumbling, worshippers still gather for Sunday services.

ESPECIALLY POIGNANT is the face of the child at the left of this picture, whose parents are moving away from a bombed area in Plymouth. Their only possessions are borne in the baby's prom and in the father's suitcase.

MANY ODDITIES occur during Nazi air raids on British cities—here is a bus blown into a garden in Bristol.

A RAID ON WANDSWORTH, largest in area of the London metropolitan boroughs, brought damage to a school.

THE ZOO AS WELL AS THE CIRCUS HAS ITS FREAKS

TO JUDGE FROM the huge yawn of this hippopotamus, life must be extremely boring in the Philadelphia zoo. The animal, fortunately, is the strictest of vegetarians.

THIS HAIRLESS CHIHUAHUA, a unique Mexican breed weighing only a few pounds is well advised to stay snugly in his jar until pussy has departed. This pygmy canine is one dog of which no cat need have the least fear.

THIS WILD BOAR could be as destructive as dynamite if he ever got loose. His look is wicked and his curved tusks are razor sharp.

ONE BILLION DOLLARS ($1,000,000,000.00) is a tremendous sum, but this is a conservative estimate of the wealth that will be gained from the Forests, Mines and Vacation Lands of Canada this year.

Minerals will account for $510,000,000.00, Forest Products $200,000,000.00, Trapped Furs $10,000,000.00 and the Foreign Exchange anticipated from Tourists visiting our Land of Lakes and Rivers $315,000,000.00.

VICTORY BONDS ARE GOOD SECURITY

NINE ENGLISH SETTER PUPS seem quite a family, but the original litter was 13. Their present chubbiness, at the age of six weeks, will vanish when they are adult and their heads become longer and more pointed. Their sire is Rasloc of Vaughan and their mother Withinlee Millich. They're owned and bred by Norman C. Macdonald of Toronto. It was his first experience as a breeder and evidently he had breeder's luck. The breed, chiefly used as field dog, is famed for ability to "freeze" at sight of game.

DUTCH WILL FIGHT AGAIN

HOLLAND IS ONE of the heroic occupied countries whose exiled government still defies the Nazi conqueror. It is well able to do so for it has rich resources in the Dutch East Indies in addition to the gold which escaped German clutches. The soldier is one of many Dutch nationals who have gathered from all parts of America for military training at Stratford, Ontario. The building in front of which he stands is Juliana barracks, called after the crown princess and heir to the throne. The uniform is the British service uniform but the word "Holland" appears on most of the shoulder straps. The Stratford force is infantry but airmen are trained in British Columbia.

THE FIRST STEP of the drill of the Dutch soldiers is like the German goose step, but there all similarity ends. In spite of some language and race relationship, these Hollanders have a bitter hatred of their Teutonic foe.

How much do you know about DIABETES?

1.Q. What is diabetes?

A. It is a disease of the pancreas, a large gland behind the stomach; in diabetes this gland fails to produce enough of a substance called insulin to permit the body adequately to use or store sugar.

2.Q. Can anybody have diabetes?

A. Yes. People of all ages, sexes, and conditions. But . . . the people it strikes are usually overweight and between the ages of 40 and 60. Also, it occurs most frequently among those who do not lead active lives. A tendency to develop diabetes seems to run in certain families. And the disease is more common among women than among men.

3.Q. Do diabetics live as long as other people?

A. That depends largely on the patient. Diabetes ranks 8th among causes of death. There is no known method of actually curing the disease. But . . . the diabetic whose disease is discovered early; who promptly puts himself under and stays under his physician's guidance; and who masters the details of his treatment, stands a good chance of living as long as he could reasonably expect to live without diabetes.

4.Q. Is there any way to guard against diabetes?

A. Yes. The simplest and most effective guard for adults is to keep below average weight. Another important precaution is to have periodic, at least annual, physical examinations with urinalysis. If possible diabetes is indicated, a blood sugar test will aid discovery before other symptoms appear, and effective control of the disease can be begun.

5.Q. What are the symptoms of diabetes?

A. The commonest symptoms, which call for immediate medical attention, are: excessive thirst; excessive appetite; unaccountable loss of weight following excessive weight; constant unaccountable weariness and irritability; in older people, boils and carbuncles.

6.Q. When diabetes is discovered, how is it controlled?

A. By proper diet, insulin, and exercise—each of these factors being adjusted by the doctor to the individual patient's needs.

7.Q. How can I find out more about diabetes?

A. By asking your doctor. Metropolitan's practical, free booklet, "Diabetes," which contains much helpful information, will be sent upon request. Address Booklet Dept. SW4 Canadian Head Office, Ottawa.

THERE ARE FINE ATHLETES amongst the stalwart Hollanders at Stratford, Ont., preparing to drive out German invaders. Here's a husky shot-putter.

"Boys, Klim makes coffee taste twice as good!"

"Sure does! Just like having a cow on board, eh?"

Enthusiastic letters from lads in the Navy, from those on trawlers engaged in the dangerous job of mine-sweeping, tell how welcome Klim is to them. Klim puts extra nourishment and richness in every steaming cup of tea and coffee. Added to cold water and beaten up, Klim makes just the quantity you want of rich creamy pasteurized milk, pure and delicious.

"Don't forget the Klim, mummy!"

Of course, Petty Officer Jim's wife won't forget the Klim! She knows it means a supply of fresh milk that'll last for weeks — for Klim stays fresh and safe a long time after the can is opened. Just keep the lid on tightly.

ENGLISH GIRLS WORK IN MOTOR TRANSPORT SERVICE

SHE STUDIED MUSIC before she enlisted in the Auxiliary Territorial Service as a convoy driver. In addition to driving, she's capable of handling breakdowns and doing running repairs. She is fastening a rope on the axle of a ditched truck, to give a derrick a better hold on it.

THESE TWO A.T.S. members demonstrate that changing a tire, which is generally a bugaboo to the fair sex, is just child's play to them.

GONE ARE THE DAYS when they were helped in and out of cars. Now these motor transport lassies board moving trucks without ceremony.

LEADERS IN CHURCH AND STATE

HIS EVERY WAKING MINUTE devoted to the immense task of winning the war, Prime Minister Churchill appears here at the desk from which he directs the Empire's effort. A rapid worker, he keeps ten secretaries on the run. But he often deserts his office to survey air-raid damage for himself. Britain will pay Germany back "three-fold" for the destruction it has wrought, he has promised.

WHEN VISITING TORONTO to address a service club meeting, his Eminence, Cardinal Villeneuve, the Archbishop of Quebec, enjoyed a chat with Ontario's grand old man, Sir William Mulock, during a Queen's Park reception.

CANADIAN GUN BARRELS HELP SMASH THE RAIDER

A RAPIDLY growing plant in southwestern Ontario is playing an important part in turning out Canada's ever-increasing stream of munitions. It is manufacturing the famous Bofors gun barrels that help put up the night-long anti-aircraft barrage over England and are also being made available for Canada's coastal defences. The Bofors is a Swedish-designed gun, selected by Great Britain after much experiment. Intended to combat low-flying and diving aircraft, it is an intermediate defence between high-altitude AA guns and various machine-guns.

HERE ARE the completed gun barrels being packed in preparation for shipment. Thirty-three operations are required before the nickel-chromium-molybdenum steel is a finally finished product.

OPERATION NUMBER 26 is the milling of two central locating slots. This is the process illustrated above. A Bofors gun barrel is not an easy thing to machine—its manufacture can be likened to "production tool-making."

MOTHS WILL NEVER EAT THIS SUIT

NO ODOR... NO WRAPPING NO STORING AWAY!

Yesterday Bill Johnson bought this new suit. When it arrived, Mrs. Johnson sprayed it all over with LARVEX. That took only a few minutes and cost less than a single "pressing"—yet gave Bill's suit the positive LARVEX protection against moth damage that has been used for years by leading woolen mills, laundries and dry cleaners.

As a result of spraying all their clothes—old and new—once a year with LARVEX, the Johnsons will never find a moth hole. For moths starve to death rather than eat LARVEXED clothes, sofas, rugs and drapes.

LARVEX IS DIFFERENT...

SURE: Not even dry cleaning will impair the positive year-round protection LARVEX gives to woollens.

QUICK: With LARVEX, it takes only a few minutes to mothproof a suit, or a dress and jacket for 12 months.

EASY: The LARVEX sprayer is so simple to use.

CHEAP: Only 83c for 16 ozs., $1.29 for 32 ozs., so it costs less than a single "pressing" to mothproof a man's suit for a whole year.

At all drug and department stores... LARVEX, Ste-Thérèse, P.Q.

QUICK
YOU WANT

PLUS THE ALKALIZER

BOTH ARE IN
SALTZER

Next time you get an attack of sour or gassy stomach, indigestion, heartburn or sick headache, get quick relief the Alka-Seltzer way. Alka-Seltzer is a combination of pain-relieving and alkalinizing ingredients. So it quickly helps to ease the discomfort of indigestion. Also, its alkalinizing ingredients help correct the cause of the trouble by neutralizing excess acid in the system.

Quick, Pleasant Relief

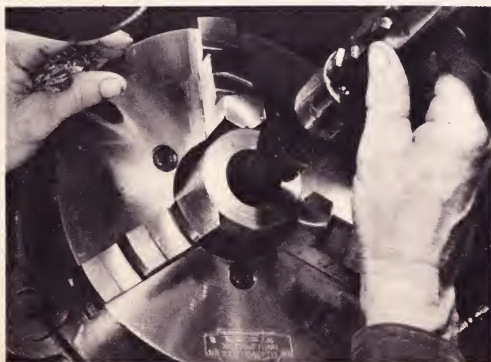

Drop an Alka-Seltzer tablet or two in a glass of water. Watch it fizz. Drink it when effervescing stops. Pleasant and refreshing. Not a laxative.

AS THE BARREL NEARS completion, a workman puts a coat of black paint on a flame-guard, for which the muzzle end has been turned and threaded. When full production is reached, several thousand workers will be employed.

SEVEN PRIMARY OPERATIONS are needed to convert the forging into a rough-turned and drilled barrel. Here is the rough and semi-finish turning being done on a lathe in two set-ups. The combining operation is a time-saver.

RIFLING THE DRILLED BARREL is another operation in which the greatest accuracy is demanded. The keen precision suffers if the barrel is allowed to overheat; there must be two barrels, therefore, provided for each gun.

AN ANTI-AIRCRAFT BATTERY GOES INTO ACTION

ON THE DOUBLE, members of an anti-aircraft gun crew "somewhere in England" race out to their action stations as the siren whines out a warning of approaching enemy aircraft. A high degree of efficiency has now been reached in these anti-aircraft batteries, which are becoming more accurate and deadly with every scientific advance. Range data—height and speed of enemy planes—can now be transmitted electrically from the range-finder to the director which, with lightning calculations, keeps the crew informed as to the position of the planes, and keeps the guns moving automatically with the planes. The director also automatically sets the shell-fuses to release the exploding mechanism when the missile is at the proper height. The plane thus "runs into" the shell-burst.

FROM THE CONTROL POST the gunners receive detailed orders as to range, then swing their guns into position. German pilots probably fear most the 56-pound shells that can be hurled from the 3.7's at a 16-a-minute rate.

THE SERGEANT-MAJOR of the battery spreads the air-raid warning to the men by pressing the electric switch that starts the siren. The men must be ready day and night.

Watch it shine after Bon Ami!

You almost feel you've worked magic after cleaning the bath with Bon Ami. The dirt's gone, the ring's vanished—in a jiffy. But here's the surprise. The porcelain sparkles! You see, as quick as it is, Bon Ami does not depend on harsh, gritty substances for its effectiveness. Instead of scratching, it really polishes... helps keep bathtubs and sinks bright, smooth, new-looking.

"hasn't scratched yet!"

CHIEF NERVE CENTRE of the anti-aircraft battery is the heavily sand-bagged control post, where news of approaching enemy aircraft is received by the signallers, who pass on all details to the gun position officer. Transmitting the information to the gunners is only a matter of split seconds.

ALSO PROTECTED by sandbags is the signallers' station, which is the "eyes" of the battery. The men here have a 24-hour-a-day job, and must be highly skilled at handling the intricate scientific instruments on which the operations of the battery depend. Their information goes to the control post.

CIVILIAN AMENITIES such as pillows and pyjamas are things of the past with this battery. To be ready for duty, the men merely slip off their shoes before snatching a brief sleep.

ROOSEVELT THE VERSATILE PLAYS MANY ROLES

A STRIKING PICTURE of scholastic dignity and calm, the U.S. president, who has been a life-long friend of Canada, here begins his radio address after receiving at Queen's University, Kingston, the honorary degree of D.C.L. He is wearing the gown.

DRESSED IN BEACH COMFORT, Roosevelt smokes a cigarette at a shore dinner on Campobello Island, the Bay of Fundy, New Brunswick. His summer cottage in New Brunswick is one of his closest and most valued contacts with the Dominion of Canada.

THE PRESIDENT here is in a merry mood and why shouldn't he be, since he has just landed a fine sailfish while fishing in Caribbean waters. Deep sea fishing and stamp collecting, as is well known, are the chief of his numerous interesting hobbies.

THE WIDE-AWAKE head of the American state keeps his ears open to world news but he chose to protect them from the roar of guns on a recent visit to ordnance proving grounds to see heavy artillery in action.
